

University of South Carolina Tour

For my college tour I went to the University of South Carolina. South Carolina is located in Columbia, South Carolina. The university is its own city. On our tour, I saw how beautiful the university is. It's filled with all types of plants and even has a place where students can go to concerts on campus for free. Then in front of the library it has a big fountain and pond. We also saw the nice recreational center that has an indoor track, 6 basketball courts, a rock wall, a really nice weight room, and an indoor and outdoor pool.

I really liked the University of South Carolina. The campus itself looked amazing and also the campus has its own city feel to it. The university has a really nice recreational building and it's not too far from the beach so you can make trips there. The football team is pretty good as well. After going on the tour I'd really like to go to this college, but depending on money I probably won't go there.
