

About The University of Cincinnati

The University of Cincinnati was founded in 1870.

When it was first started it absorbed two smaller universities that were near by. It has an annual enrollment of over 40,000, which makes it the second largest College in Ohio and within the 50 largest schools in the country. The school offers over 100 bachelor's degrees and over 300 masters. The degrees range from doctorates to first professional education. There are 6 main campuses spread throughout Ohio. These include the west campus, the medical campus, Victory Parkway campus, Blue Ash campus, Clermont campus, and the east campus. These different campuses hold a variety of learning opportunities for the students. The University of Cincinnati uses the Common App which helps a lot when you're applying to different colleges. The average tuition for in-state is $11,000 and out-of-state is $26,334.

This makes it relatively affordable for students that live in Ohio. The University of Cincinnati is a very popular school when it comes to applied sciences. They have a separate campus just for its applied sciences. That campus is the Victory Parkway campus. The mascot for UC is a bearcat and there is even one they take to the football games and it lives in the Cincinnati Zoo. The college is ranked 63rd in the country for business and 3rd in the country for criminal justice. It is also in the top tier of schools for its music program and its industrial design program. All of the dorms are put together in a close-knit community with like-minded individuals. There is also a lot to do since it is so close to the city.

Works Cited

"University of Cincinnati." Wikipedia. Wikimedia Foundation. Web. 19 Oct. 2016.

"About." University of Cincinnati. 13 Apr. 2016. Web. 21 Oct. 2016.