

This is a front view of the the U.C main campus entrance. It's a little hard to tell from this picture but it has 135 acres.

You can't miss this walking into class; this is located near the entrance of the school and is a landmark to students that attend.

When you hear of excellent school spirit chances are people are talking about U.C. The majority of U.C. are die hard Cincinnati fans. It's hard to imagine another team getting as much support as U.C does.

This is where rivals are made. With a beautiful stadium and a great football team, this is located just outside the school, and has had many games played in it.

This picture is an overhead view of most of the campus, it was taken to show the massiveness of the campus.
