

Miami University of Middletown College Visit Pictures

Computer Lab- This is new and open at all times although most students prefer to use their own laptops. It's in the same building as the library and bookstore.

Library- There are many books you can borrow but if you're going into the nursing field, you will have to buy your books somewhere else.

Study Hall- It is also new and you can ask anyone who works there to help you. It is very big and has a lot of open space.

Science and Technology Building- It's a long walk to get to this building. But it is one of the buildings you go to if you are going into the nursing/medical field.

Inside the building of Science and Technology- It was very quiet as some classes were leaving and the classes we saw didn't look very interesting.

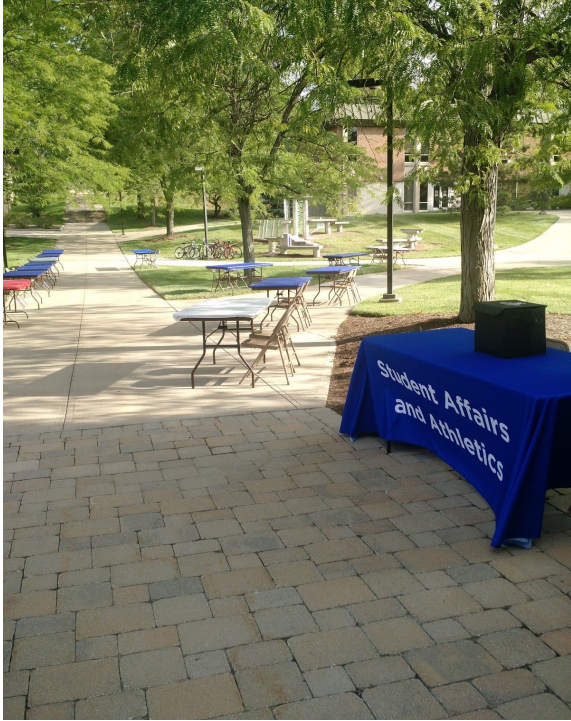

TRiO- This is a program that helps students get personal, academic, and financial assistance they need with a low amount of debt. It involves getting counseling, tutors, mentors, financial guidance to help students get a degree.

Inside Johnston Hall- This is part of the building where classes take place; straight ahead is where you can sign up for tutors and get financial, athletic, and academic help. Johnston Hall is also the main building on the campus.

Outside Johnston Hall- This is one of MUM's hang-out/study areas. There is also a balcony to use as a quiet study area.

On campus- People there were setting up a mini fair to offer information about student affairs and athletics the day I was there.

Levey Hall- This is Levey 100 which is one of the rooms where you can take the ACT. This room is used for science classes and is the biggest classroom on the campus.